Applicant has attached a verified translation of the priority document DE 103 25 955 so that applicant can now rely on the priority date of June 7, 2003.

It is respectfully submitted that the claims presently on file differ essentially and in an unobvious, highly advantageous manner from the methods disclosed in the references.

Turning once again to the references and the Examiner's rejections, applicant submits that it would not be obvious to combine the references as done by the Examiner. Simply because each reference teaches one of the process routes does not mean it is obvious to combine these routes into a single method, as is done in the presently claimed invention. None of the references indicates any desirability for making such a combination, and it would not be obvious to combine them because of the complex method and installation which would result. As the Supreme Court in KSR stated: "a patent composed of several elements is not proved obvious merely by demonstrating that each of its elements was, independently, known in the prior art" (KSR Intern. Co. v. Teleflex Inc., 127 S.Ct. 1727, 1741 (2007)).

None of the references provide any teaching of a method that includes the steps of providing a plurality of specific process routes for producing molten steel, and selecting one of the process routes from the plurality of routes provided, according to a desired final microstructure, as in the presently claimed invention. There is no teaching by any of the references of providing a plurality of process routes and then selecting one of the process routes based on a desired final microstructure. The references at most show providing a single process route.

In view of these considerations it is respectfully submitted that the rejections of claims 1-12 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are overcome and should be withdrawn.

Reconsideration and allowance of the present application are respectfully requested.

Any additional fees or charges required at this time in connection with this application may be charged to Patent and Trademark Office Deposit Account No. 02-2275.

Respectfully submitted,
